

Disclaimer

Thomas McAfee Funeral Homes publishes obituaries on our web site that we have been asked to submit for publication to the newspaper media. In accordance with family wishes, information about services that have been requested to be private by the decedent's family will not be published. We will also honor requests to remove a published obituary upon written request from the decedent's legal next of kin.

Thomas McAfee Funeral Homes reserves the right to edit or refuse to list a condolence that contains language that is unlawful, harmful, fraudulent, threatening, abusive, defamatory, vulgar, obscene, profane, hateful, racially, ethnically, or otherwise objectionable, or encourages conduct that might constitute a criminal offense.

Thomas McAfee Funeral Homes reserves the right to change the information contained in this web site without notice. Thomas McAfee Funeral Homes is not responsible for any unintentional errors that may be contained in this web site. Links to other web sites are provided for the convenience of the user and should not be construed as an endorsement of that web site or of the business referred to or promoted in that other web site. Thomas McAfee Funeral Homes grants permission for any user to follow links to other web sites, but cannot be held responsible for any content errors, copyright violations, libelous statements, offensive subject matter, or any other material that may be contained in those web sites or in any succeeding web sites that may be reached by following those links.